Some wanna become doctors

@kumar_abhirup

Some wanna become scientists

@kumar_abhirup

Some wanna become builders

@kumar_abhirup

Some wanna become engineers

@kumar_abhirup

Coding might be the easiest career to try, learn and pursue.

@kumar_abhirup

Professionals like Doctors, Need years and years of training.

@kumar_abhirup

It's the same with many more professions.

@kumar_abhirup

Coding might be the fastest and the most useful thing to learn.

@kumar_abhirup

Have you ever heard of a bootcamp to become a Civil Engineer?

@kumar_abhirup

Being able to code,

@kumar_abhirup

Being able to code,
IS A SUPERPOWER

The ability to build anything from scratch and scaling it to make the world a better place,

@kumar_abhirup

By the comfort of a couch!

@kumar_abhirup

Given that many people already know this...

@kumar_abhirup

Many, many people ask how to learn to code!

@kumar_abhirup

If you just starting out in 2020,

@kumar_abhirup

You can bet on JavaScript.

Why “teens” should learn it?

@kumar_abhirup

You might wanna see if coding works for you.

@kumar_abhirup

Teens tend to learn by hobbies,
And not just to earn.

@kumar_abhirup

So, teenager time might be the best time to try & experiment around with coding.

@kumar_abhirup

Teens have the privilege of “free time” more than the adults, to learn new things.

JavaScript Community is more than welcoming to people from all walks of life.

@kumar_abhirup

Overall, I believe, it's a great deal!

@kumar_abhirup

Why anyone should learn to code

Why teens should learn to code

@kumar_abhirup

Why teens should learn JavaScript

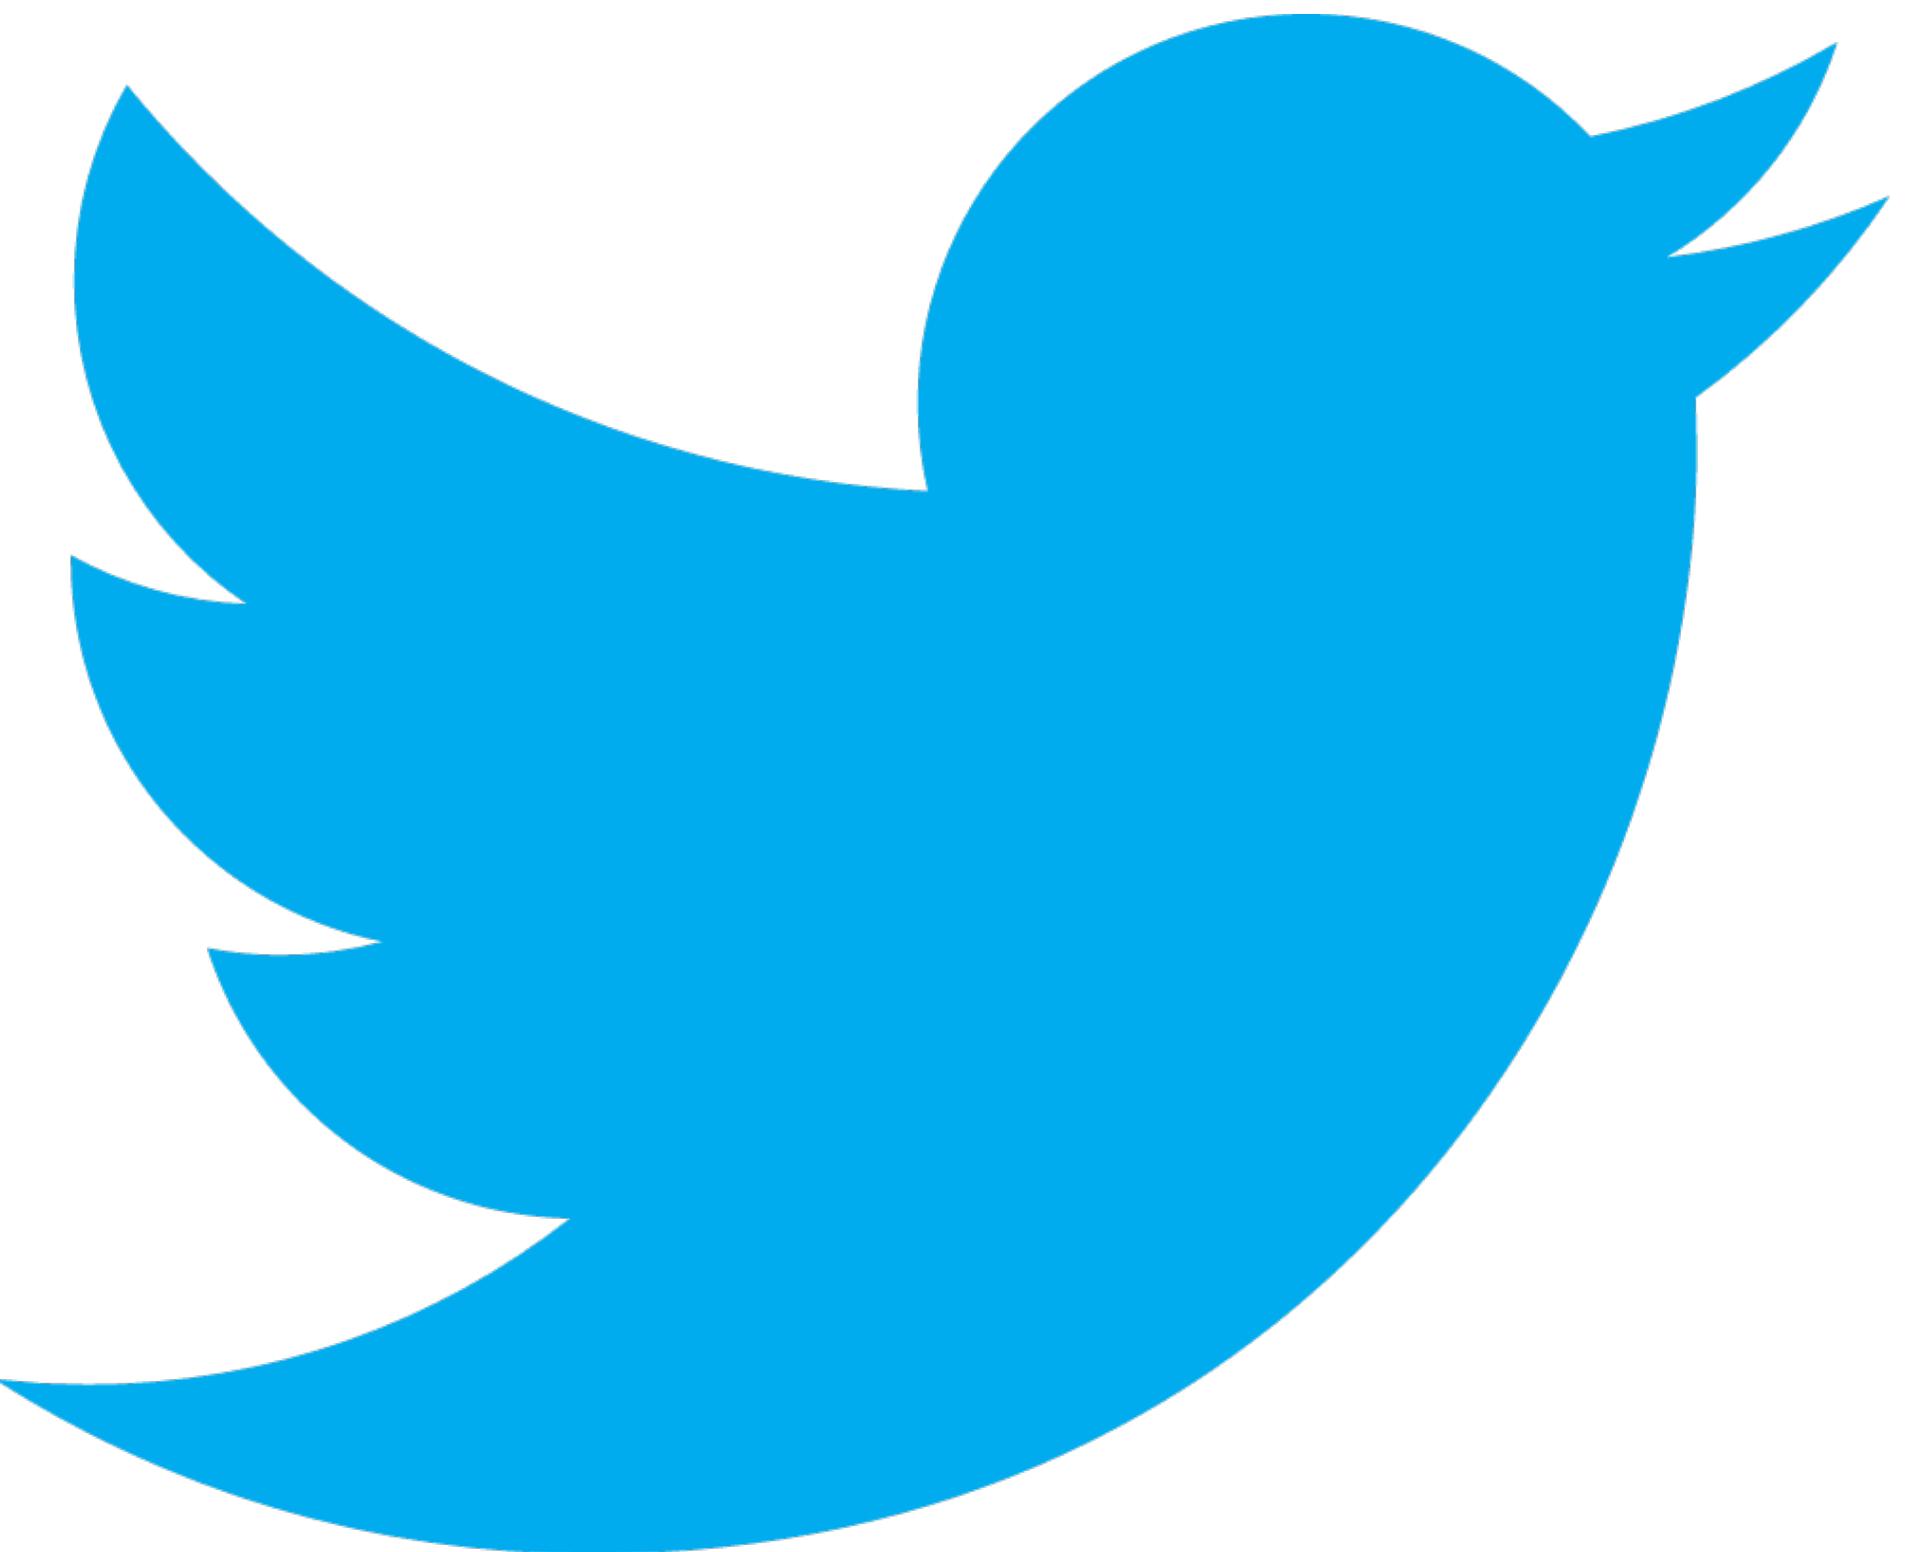

@kumar_abhirup

Anyway, that was a theoretical “why” part
